

New pool for the school

MARNELLE GREYLING

marnelleg@caxton.co.za

The days of using Crawford College's pool are over for Unity College in Fourways.

This after Unity held its first-ever swimming gala – in their very own swimming pool.

Not only was the new pool enjoyed, but those participating in the gala excelled and showed off their skills.

"All the juniors received medals for their wonderful participation," said Michelle Kirk, advancement officer of Unity College. According to her, it was clear that the children had practised their swimming techniques.

"Unity College would like to thank all the parents who made the special day possible," concluded Kirk.

 If you know of any local school events, please share them with us on the Fourways Review Facebook page.

Unity College's business manager, Henry Botha encourages Aarav Baboolal at the school's swimming gala, held in their brand-new swimming pool.